Bidault Government May Fall

Tie Of 293-293
Result On Vote
Of ConfidenceExperts Argue
Over Effect Of
Tie On Bidault

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The three-month old French moderate government of Premier George Bidault teetered precariously on the brink of collapse today when its demand for a vote of confidence brought a 293-293 tie in the national assembly.

Argue Over Effect
Parliamentary experts argued whether the tie, which came on the fourth of a series of five confidence ballots, meant the downfall of the government.

First interpretations were that the government still retains power, but that on the specific issue on which the vote came—a bill restoring 14 and a half billion francs of state expenses to the budget—was defeated.

Narrow Margin
Earlier, the government had held power on the third vote by the narrow margin of only three votes.

The government survived the third of five tests of confidence this morning by only 294 votes to 291.

The first ballot tally was 299 to 293, the second, 301 to 293. Bidault, heading a shaky third-force coalition cabinet, risked his rule on a balanced 1950 budget which contains many features to which some of his supporters, as well as the opposition, strongly object.

Controversial Budget
The controversial budget contains new taxation measures, fought by Conservatives, and fails to provide for the full cost-of-living bonuses for workers demanded by Bidault's Socialist supporters. However, many of Bidault's backers who objected to features of the budget were expected to vote for the measure in order to prop up the cabinet.

A defeat for the government would bring the downfall of the cabinet and possible new general elections.

Just one year ago today, one of the coldest days of last winter was noted, the temperature dropping down to two above zero. It has never been anything near that mark this winter.

Motorists must have now driver's licenses on Wednesday, likewise have a new inspection tag on the car, and in addition the new motorists liability law becomes effective tomorrow.

Just two days and groundhog day will be on the schedule again. Winter has been largely missing, but there is a chance for considerable cold weather yet before spring arrives.

State Highway department ashing crews put in a hectic night of it, according to Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent. The men, according to Mr. Martin, were on the job from 10:30 p. m. on and kept their vigil throughout the night. Temperatures through the nocturnal hours kept at 30 degrees just enough to make traveling bad with the sleet that fell.

Eyes of western Pennsylvania residents from all over the state perhaps will be on Punxsutawney, the traditional home of the ground hog, on Thursday. With the current warm winters being enjoyed, whether he sees his shadow or not will have little significance. Last year, the old fellow saw the shadow quite plainly, the record reports.

BABY HAS TEETH AT 7 DAYS OLD

Imagine a child practically ready for a hearty meal at the ripe old age of thirteen days! Such is the case of tiny Carol Ann DeJoseph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DeJoseph of 1112 Croton avenue. Born at the New Castle hospital on January 18, the child had small "jets" or impressions of teeth at birth. X-rays were taken giving proof that teeth were present. Seven days later two lower teeth appeared and are now proudly displayed by Carol Ann, who seems to realize she is the center of attraction in the neighborhood. It is reported that this is the first time for many years that a child has been born with any teeth at all.

Two Scientists Marooned
In Antarctic Are Rescued

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Two of five British scientist-explorers marooned on an Antarctic island for more than three years were reported rescued by plane today in a dramatic race against closing ice floes.

A Reuters correspondent aboard the ship John Biscoe in the Falkland Islands said Canadian bush pilot Peter Borden St. Louis made the hazardous flight from an Argentine base to Stonington Island in Marguerite Bay.

The pilot was forced to land in a fjord eight to 10 miles from the camp on Stonington Island when a prepared pool near the base kept up too much to permit a landing. Three men, Radio Operator T. M. Randall, Meteorologist B. Stonehouse and General Assistant J. S. Huckle, made the three-hour pull through a maze of ice floes in a small boat to where the plane landed.

To Make Further Effort
Since two men were required to row the boat back to the base, the plane's radio operator joined Huckle while Stonehouse and Randall boarded the plane. St. Louis was unable to rescue any more of the marooned scientists due to approaching ice which (Continued on Page Two)

Heart Campaign

Collection Boxes
In Public Places

Red plastic hearts, symbol of the annual Heart campaign, are now appearing on store counters and in public places in New Castle.

The hearts are set up in all of the major plants, banks, stores and hotels in the community and offer an easy method for the people of our city to make their contributions. They herald the 1950 Heart campaign opening Tuesday. Each heart-shaped collection box is mounted on a card with the legend: "Open Your Heart—Give—Fight Heart Disease."

The plastic hearts are being distributed by the Lawrence county committee of the American Heart association, which will conduct a drive for $6,000,000 during the month of February. A major portion of the funds will be spent in western Pennsylvania to develop and expand cardiac services in this area.

The remaining portion will support a national program of research and education in its fight against this country's leading cause of death. According to Dr. Eliah Kaplan, a director of the Western Pennsylvania Heart association, 200 plastic hearts will be placed before the public in this community. The heart collection boxes are also appearing simultaneously in cities throughout the United States.

Chinese Reds May Seek To Take Tibet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Diplomatic quarters are concerned today that the next move of the Chinese Communists may be to take over Tibet, a high mountain land bordering India.

Some authorities believe that the fall of Tibet, high in the Himalaya mountains, would prove more of a setback to the western democracies than the fall of Formosa.

American officials decline to discuss the matter publicly. They feel it is more a problem for Britain and India than for the United States, which continues to recognize it as part of China.

WHITEHORSE, Y. T., Jan. 31.—A ground party struggled through hip-deep snow today toward five injured men whose plane crashed landed on a Yukon mountainside during the search for a U. S. C-54 missing with 44 persons aboard.

The C-47 search plane, part of the widespread operation which has found no trace of the missing skyliner, thudded to earth yesterday at Mount Lorne, 21 miles south of Whitehorse.

Its pilot, Lt. Charles Hardin, dazed and suffering from facial cuts that smarted painfully in 30-below-zero temperatures, walked tortuously through the deep snow for six hours to reach the Alcan highway and help.

He was picked up there by a U. S. Army vessel and a rescue party was dispatched to the five men left behind at the wrecked plane. They included Hardin's co-pilot, three other Air Force men and a civilian news correspondent for an Anchorage, Alaska, radio station. Lt. Hardin accompanied the rescue group.

Make Progress
At last report the rescue party, moving in six-wheeled snowmobiles, had reached a point on the sub-Arctic where it was to leave the road and push across the trackless white wilderness to Mount Lorne.

Awaiting rescue, the men at the crash scene built a big bonfire to protect themselves against the (Continued on Page Two)

Prepare To Question Two
In Attorney's Slaying

HUTCHINSON, Minn., Jan. 31.—(INS)—McLeod county authorities today planned to question the widow of a slain Hutchinson attorney and the young blonde Minneapolis stenographer whose search for him in his hometown ended in his death.

Sheriff Otto Gruenhagen said investigators had learned the two women met and talked twice the day before 42-year-old Gordon Jones was found shot to death in his law office.

Held in nearby Glenwood was 23-year-old Laura Miller who, authorities said, admitted firing the shot that killed the attorney. She gave no motive but said she had struggled with him over a gun. "I don't know why I did it," she was quoted as saying.

Mighty Effort Fails To Free Battleship Missouri

By FRANK TURIN

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 31.—A huge salvage flotilla and 5,000 men failed today in a mighty two-hour attempt to free the battleship Missouri from a Chesapeake Bay mudbank that has held her fast since Jan. 17.

Other attempts to get the "Big Mo" afloat are scheduled for tomorrow and Thursday.

Today's salvage operation was billed simply as a "rehearsal" for a major effort Thursday. But the men and ships involved went all out to provide a "going away present" for Adm. W.H.P. Blandy, retiring tomorrow as Atlantic fleet commander.

Seventeen tugs pulled and pushed at the mighty battleship in the darkness and pea-soup fog in the attempt to move her into a channel leading to high water. But the Missouri stayed fast. At one point, while both men and boats pulled and strained, a cable an inch and one half thick from one of the tugs to the Missouri snapped with a retort like a rifle shot and went zinging through the air.

Crew members aboard the salvage ship Petrol said that the cable's snap "quivered like a Jew's hair."

The Missouri itself shuddered, but she would not come loose. Altogether, at least 29 salvage ships were involved in the operation. Along with the tugs, there were two salvage ships, the seagoing tug Pro Comber, and nine beaching gear rigs.

Green Light

Police found the girl lying on the floor beside Jones' body yesterday, screaming.

"My honey. My honey. For God's sake talk to me. I don't want to live. Let me be with him."

Sheriff Gruenhagen said investigators were checking reports that Miss Miller was one of many beautiful girls with whom Jones was seen in nightclubs during frequent visits to Minneapolis.

County Prosecutor Hubert Smith said he would question the girl today if her attorney would permit. If not, Smith said, he would ask Circuit Judge Joseph J. Moriarty to order the grand jury reconvened.

No formal charge was placed against Miss Miller immediately.

Aid To Formosa
And Korea May
Get ApprovalHouse Committee
May Act Favorably
On Project Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)

—The House Foreign Affairs Committee is set to approve—possibly today—dollar aid to Formosa and Korea despite renewed blasts at State Secretary Acheson's policies.

Chairman Kee (D-W. Va.), expressed hope a vote will be reached by tonight. Democratic committee members predicted Korean aid—defeated in the House less than two weeks ago—will have a better chance of passage when tied to assistance to Formosa.

Battle On House Floor
The big battle on the bill will come on the House floor. Rep. Smith (R-Wis.), a foreign affairs committee member, said:

"I think we can defeat Korean aid again." Supporters of the measure disputed his contention.

Other developments:
1. Smith announced he will demand today an investigation by the foreign affairs committee of "subversive influences" in the State Department. He said he will make the demand in a resolution he will lay before the House.

2. The committee forwarded to President Truman a questionnaire on the chief executive's refusal of military aid to Red-threatened Formosa.

Increased Cost?
The document asked Mr. Truman to state how much the cost of occupying Japan would be increased.

H-Bomb Action
May Be Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The congressional Atomic Energy committee continues talks today on whether to offer President Truman any advice on the hydrogen bomb.

But it was becoming more and more apparent that if the "watch dog" group acts at all, it will urge Mr. Truman—probably secretly—to go ahead with the project.

Capitol Hill backing for the "hell" bomb mounted as powerful Senate Armed Services Committee Tydings (D-Md.), bluntly stated that the country "has no option other than to build the hydrogen bomb."

He asserted that to neglect the bomb was to "invite attack."

Occupation Of Western Zones In Austria May End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Top diplomatic officials predicted today that the military government of the western zones of occupation in Austria will be ended within three months.

The State department was reported to have abandoned all hope of achieving a peace treaty with Austria through the Big Four foreign ministers' deputies.

They have been trying to obtain an accord with Austria for the past three years.

Despite reiterated Russian promises of seeking an accord, the latest discussions in New York broke up when the Moscow delegates raised a technical question.

The question involved discussions going on in Vienna for the reimbursement of the Soviet Union of certain relief needs in their zone after the war.

Three Possible
Courses Open
To PresidentNo Information
On What Action
Truman Considers

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—President Truman today set up a presidential fact-finding board in the coal dispute and appealed to miners to go back to a five-day work week.

The presidential appeal for a return to normal production was for a 70-day period beginning February 6. He took the action outside of the provision of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Mr. Truman sent a telegraphic appeal to both mine operators and John L. Lewis, as head of the United Mine Workers.

Mr. Truman said in his telegram:

"The government can no longer stand by and permit the continuance of conditions which have now come to have such a serious effect upon the public interest."

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The White House indicated that President Truman may act today or tomorrow to end the four-week strike of 90,000 mine and restore full-scale coal production.

There was no official information, however, on what step the chief executive is considering.

Three Possible Courses
At least three possible courses of action appear to be open to Mr. Truman. They are:

1. A direct appeal to the miners to return to work under threat of a drastic government move if they fail to do so.

2. Appointment of an extra-legal fact-finding board to investigate the coal dispute and make recommendations for its settlement.

3. Use of the emergency machinery of the Taft-Hartley law.

The latter also would involve appointment of a fact-finding panel but it would make no recommendations. A board would determine whether a national fuel emergency existed.

Could Secure Injunction

If it so reported, Mr. Truman then could direct the attorney general to obtain an 80-day injunction to restore full coal output.

Several names have been mentioned for such a board, including John Dunlop, Harvard University professor, David L. Cole, Peterson (N.J.) lawyer, and W. Willard Wirtz, Northwestern University professor and former chairman of the old war labor board.

The White House declined to say whether Mr. Truman has reached a final decision on handling of the coal case. Some of his advisers reportedly feel that he should defer action until the disputants have a new try at writing a coal contract.

No Signs Of Yielding

John L. Lewis showed no signs of yielding to the imminent threat of presidential intervention and mounting congressional criticism.

The United Mine Workers president allowed the six-state walkout to continue unchecked although government officials said such a course was almost an open invitation to President Truman to step into the mine controversy.

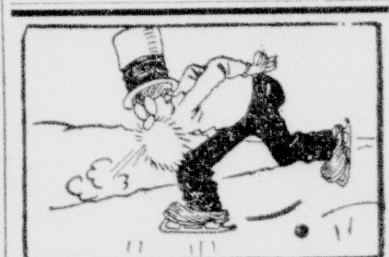

Mr. Truman is expected to act shortly to restore full coal production and avert a threatened national fuel emergency.

were interested to hear a local couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hartman, enroute to California on the program. A question asked a couple prior to the interrogation of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman, was "Name a town in Pennsylvania which bears the same name as money used by the Indians." The answer was Wampum.

Some residents are taking advantage of the softness of the ground in rolling their lawns in preparation for spring. Digging of ditches for pipe installations near new homes is being done with comparative ease by workmen it is reported.

Ralph Waddington, who served as Electrician's Mate, first class, with the Sea Bees during the late conflict, after having had a hitch in World War One, suggests that the Navy fails to get the "Mighty Mo" off the mud banks in their current try, they might try the Sea Bees. During the war, the Sea Bees slogan was "Can Do," and there was nothing they ever attempted, that they didn't carry through, he states.

IMPORTANT

We noticed by our local paper a few days ago, where our City Police had put tags on over 200 cars, as they were cleaning out the alleys, on account of fire. We feel that the officers who were doing this job must have had dark glasses on when they went through Ellis Way, as there is from 2 to 10 cars parked there all the time, and the strange part of it is, they are right under big signs "No Parking at Any Time". It is pretty hard to own a business property with a drive clear around it, and find it nearly impossible to enter same. We also keep an ambulance in that building, which is used for emergency, but getting it out, is another question.

While on this matter of parking, we also might mention that East North St. is beginning to look like a dirt road, as Saturday afternoon you could hardly tell whether it was paved or not. It could be helped with the city sweeper, or by using the hose.

WE NOW USE THE 'KLEEN-TEST' METHOD IN DRY CLEANING GARMENTS

Intensive study has taught us that your garments fit into one of 14 classifications, each requiring special solvents and soaps to insure "the finest quality dry cleaning, regardless of price".

Smith's new "KLEEN-TEST" process removes all soil from your garments and restores their original newness. Smith's "KLEEN-TEST" process makes garments "color bright".

CUNNINGHAM-MURPHY EXCHANGE OF VOWS

A fashionable gown of white velvet was worn by Miss Honora M. Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cunningham, 308 North Beaver street, when she was married on Saturday, January 28, to Charles J. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Murphy, Wilkesburg.

St. Mary's church was the scene of the impressive wedding at 10:00 a. m. with Rev. Francis King officiating. Altar boys were George and Thomas Latsko, nephews of the bride.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Thomas Cunningham, the bride wore a fingertip veil held to a staphanotis headpiece, to complement the bridal gown. The gown was fashioned with a net yoke and made off the shoulder effect with three consecutive folds of material encircling the bodice. Graceful folds of the skirt swirled into a chapel length train. The bride wore a shower bouquet of white carnations with English ivy.

Heading the bridal procession was Miss Evelyn Santarella of Mt. Pleasant Pa. She wore a gown of larkspur pink styled like that of the bride's. Matching mitts and a harmonizing braided headpiece were pleasing accents.

Bridesmaids Miss Lois Cunningham, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Kevin Guinagh, in delphinium blue, presented an attractive picture and wore gowns designed like those of the bride and groom maid. Shower bouquets of shaded pink carnations were pretty accents to the attendants' costumes.

William Murphy was best man for his brother and ushers were Robert Cunningham, brother of the bride, and Norman Mulgrave.

A wedding breakfast held at the Castleton for 50 guests and the evening reception was held at the Cunningham home.

After a wedding trip to points of interest in Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside at R.D. 6, Butler road.

Mrs. Murphy is a graduate of New Castle high school and the Mercy hospital school of Nursing. Her husband is a graduate of Central Catholic high school in Pittsburgh and Duquesne University. He is employed as assistant credit manager at the Sears Roebuck company this city.

THAT EXPLOSION ON MARS

Reports of a "terrific explosion" on January 16 on the planet Mars have alerted astronomers throughout the earth to keep watch for possible further disturbances. But it may be a long watch.

With all the notable advances made in devices to extend our eyes and cameras farther into the space around us, age-old mysteries regarding this comparatively near neighbor remain unsolved.

The explosion, noted by a Japanese astronomer at Osaka and reported to the Association of Lunar and Planetary observers, according to its director, Walter Haas at Albuquerque, New Mexico, appears to have raged outward about 60 miles, covering an area of approximately 900 square miles.

Mr. Haas thinks it might have been "volcanic ash," a phenomenon described by him as exceedingly rare. Such an explosion, Mr. Haas suggests, would have caused vast damage to vegetable and plant life on Mars, if any exist there.

That poses the old question again—whether beings like humans or any higher order of animals exist or could exist on the planet; whether it has vegetation; what the spreading and diminishing polar ice caps are; whether the so-called "canals" are really canals. It may be years before these and similar questions are answered, if ever.

In the meantime, if there may be "people" on Mars and that wasn't a volcanic explosion, it's to be hoped their scientists haven't also been monkeying with atoms that go away from them.

JOBLESS GERMANS

Word from the western zone of Germany that unemployment there has risen 11 per cent is bad news. The Russians say there is no unemployment in their zone, which may or may not be true, though there is slave labor there, and bone-deep poverty, and complete lack of freedom. But the reds can be expected to make the most of unemployment in the western sector. They will say such a thing is unknown under communism.

It is hard to convince a man out of a job that he is free, especially if he has a family depending on him. The way he sees it is that he wants to work and support his family and isn't free to; that because of the way society is organized (especially during a depression) he isn't free to succeed in business for himself either.

Maybe this man is still free to change his government and bring back good times, but he isn't likely to find much comfort in that thought. He becomes, in short, considerably more receptive to communist propaganda. Violent activity in a communist gang may even give him the feeling that he is doing something about his lot.

This state of mind is not, obviously, based on a logical economic analysis of the situation. In the United States where poverty is rarely stark and rampant, its usual effect is to make people vote against the party in power. There is enough poverty in the Soviet zone in Germany to have that effect, but people there have lost the right to vote and the power to revolt.

Unemployment in the western zone is not the best possible advertisement for the forces of occupation.

WOULDN'T STOP DEFENSIVE ACTION

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, has thrown cold water on any hopes held by a potential enemy country that an atom bomb explosion in the Pentagon would throw the armed forces into chaos.

Collins concedes that it might cause havoc and confusion, but it wouldn't stop the Army from taking immediate action to repel an attack.

The reason is that individual commanders of each of the six armies now have authority to take immediate action in their own areas if an attack should occur.

Collins emphasized that this means the action could begin without asking permission from the Pentagon.

Thus, theoretically at least, it would take a minimum of seven atomic bombs, exploded at almost precisely the same moment over highly strategic and widely scattered areas to disrupt the Army's plans for defense.

Folk with the most money are the ones who go south for a little change.

The later people turn in at night the less they turn out during the day.

That little ol' dime can put up a great fight if you turn it over to the March of Dimes!

If you are serious about wanting happiness, why not try enjoying the things you think you dislike.

A Massachusetts woman sued a hotel for $5000 because she was injured in a powder-room rush. No wonder she blew up.

Despite acreage curtailment, the wheat crop promises to be as big as last year. But the Washington planners never were much good at subtraction.

It is estimated only one American in three has an adequate breakfast. It seems there's too short a time lapse between pillow and wage earning post.

READY TO REVIVE AIRLIFT

Complete readiness of the United States Air Force to revive the massive airlift to Berlin whenever necessary warants was emphasized today by the "baby blockade" of Berlin by Soviet officials.

The actual reason behind the Russian action is not clear. It may be due to a misunderstanding. It may be traceable to the Soviet system of rotating their occupational forces periodically. Perhaps new replacements were at the checkpoints and delayed things by too scrupulous adherence to all the rules.

It may be the beginning of a fresh Soviet campaign to force the western allies out of Berlin or a propaganda subterfuge to divert attention from other and perhaps more dangerous Communist activities in the Far East.

Prepared To Resume

But whatever the case may be, Lieut. Gen. John T. Cannon, U. S. Air Force Commander in Europe has said:

"My men are prepared to resume promptly the airlift to Berlin if it is necessary."

Despite all of the publicity given to them, much of the airlift operations were and remain in the "top-secret" category.

But it seems to be apparent even to the least militarily inclined among them that the Soviets made a tactical mistake without parallel when they placed the United States in a position during the blockade where the Air Force had to be restored to a virtual war footing.

There is a military axiom that inactive armies, navies or air forces go stale.

For this reason, even the most peace-loving nations must dip into their treasuries on occasion to meet the expenses of maneuvers. In the case of the Berlin blockade, the Russians compelled the United States and Great Britain to team up in a gigantic operation which in effect made them the strategic and tactical air masters of Europe.

Cost Over 200 Millions

The cost was something over 200 million dollars—a very sizeable outlay and that may or may not take into consideration the wear and tear on aircraft involved.

But on the credit side were these factors:

The allies won the apparently enduring friendship of two and a half million Berliners. To put it in mercenary terms, the cost breaks down to about $50 for each western Berliner over the entire airlift period.

This must be the merest fraction of what is being spent by the Soviet Union on propaganda and indoctrination of the Germans under their control.

In addition, the enforced operation served to reaffirm the Air Force's confidence in its own ability to handle a difficult problem. In effect, it was the only major operation undertaken in Europe since V-Day and the achievement is spectacular even today in retrospect.

Lastly—and here is where the experts say the Soviets made a vast mistake—thousands of allied airmen were able to carry out an operation of immense strategic value under peacetime conditions.

So far as reconnaissance is concerned, the opportunity was superb. Pilots pushed their big planes through all sorts of weather with no thought of anti-aircraft or fighter interception. It is inevitable that these men, their navigators, radio operators and potential bombards now know the terrain of all western Europe as well as they do their own dials and dashboards.

Not To Press Issue

High allied military officials in Germany seem convinced that the Russians will not press the present issue to make restoration of the airlift necessary.

They recognize the deep chagrin that must have been felt in Moscow when former Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay, simply by lifting a telephone and calling Air Force headquarters in Wiesbaden, set in motion an operation that in many respects altered every previous conception of military logistics.

Since that time, the coined word airlift has become commonplace. The device is now common practice as regards supply, reinforcement or evacuation.

One of the last statements made by Gen. Clay before he handed over his duties to civilian administration in the person of high commissioner John J. McCloy was that the framework of the Berlin airlift would be kept intact indefinitely. Gen. Cannon has confirmed that this was no mere oratory.

They Say

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, chancellor of Washington university at St. Louis and Nobel prize winning atomic scientist: "The moral and practical question, 'Should we try to develop a weapon that might be 1,000 times more destructive than the A-bomb,' should be referred to the people for their judgment."

Rep. Judd (R) of Minn.: "From the beginning, our calculations on China were wrong, and our policy calculated us to the brink of disaster in the far east, and to the loss of China's vast resources and manpower."

Sen. Mundt (R) of S. D.: "If we blandly permit the Russians to stockpile bombs and infiltrate our government and its institutions, within two to three years no American will be able to go to bed at night with a sense of security."

Dr. Raphael Lemkin, author of the United Nations convention against genocide: "For centuries we have had a law to punish homicide, the killing of an individual. But we have never had a law to punish genocide, the destruction of national, religious and racial groups..."

BIBLE THOUGHT

That the communication of thy faith may become effectual by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.—Philomel: 1:6.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

TREES MUST BE FEMININE!

I should think the trees in winter
Would wear a heavy coat of leaves,
And in the warm days of summer
They'd shed the coat and roll their sleeves...
But then trees, and shrubs and flowers,
Have no sense in winter—I find;
They dress their heads in lace-like fur
And leave their knees bare to the wind.

And willows are so sad at night
Because the winds are raw and blare.
They groan and moan about the bright
And snowy robes the others wear...
Of course the willow has no feet
To pad her thinness any time,
But if she had brains of a gnat
She'd stop her wailing all the time.

Evergreens wear their furs in summer
To be in style throughout the year—
There has to be a dowager
To chaperon the bunch—the dear...
But one cannot tell them a thing
For they know all—but still I think
Trees should bundle up until spring,
And then disrobe down to the pink.

STILL TRYING TO GET IT OFF THE MUD BANK

Fails To See Any Glamor

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I am as romantic as the next fellow, and go for glamor like a hawk for a field mouse, but for the life of me I can't see what is so all-fired romantic or glamorous about the love affair between "Gorgeous Gussie" Moran, the tennis player, and Anthony Davenport, who is in trade in Calcutta.

The love affair of Rita and Aly packed romance a glamor, yes, as did that of Bobo and Winthrop. International figures were involved (especially in the case of Miss Hayworth), and enough money palaces, yachts and jewels to bedazzle mere mortals.

But this cannot be said of the heart-throb business of Miss Moran and Mr. Davenport. True, their love blossomed in far away India, but one look at the population statistics of India and one realizes right away the love has been flourishing there for many, many centuries. Indeed, with the exception of China, India is the strong hold of love.

Nice Young Englishman

Mr. Davenport apparently is not a billionaire or even a millionaire. I have read of no reports that if and when he and Miss Moran are married they will sail to cinnamon-scented ports in a yacht as long as 100 lengths of garden hose, or that he will give her a platinum, ruby and diamond tennis racquet for a wedding present. From published reports I gather that Mr. Davenport is a nice young Englishman making a living for himself in a foreign country, just as tens of thousands of young Englishmen are doing all over the world.

The chances are that when and if they are married the Davenports will live in a moderate house in the English section of Calcutta, suffer terribly from the heat in the summer save for a fortnight's respite in a hill station, and dance and swim and play cards at the English club. And if it's as hot in Calcutta as it was when I was there last they won't even do these things.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

(By International News Service)

Alaska and Hawaii are still trying to get full membership in the Union and if they can't make the USA they might try the UMW.

John Lewis has a district 50 that can prove, for charter purposes, that pineapples and ice are definite products of the mine, produced above ground only as a matter of convenience.

And probably John could use some new members. Some of his old ones are wearing a little thin.

But I'd like to have seen one of those fellows who struck against the three-day week explaining to his wife how he defied John by not working at all.

She says "Why didn't you defy him real good and work a five-day week?" He says "Are you crazy?"

Anyway if Hawaii wants statehood the best thing they could do would be to send a hula dancer to make the motions before the house.

things—they'll just sit around and fan one another.

Makes Gal Gorgeous?

As for Miss Moran being tagged "Gorgeous," I won't be so ungallant as to say she isn't, but I will say that if she is, then the world is loaded down with gorgeous girls. She earned her sobriquet, if memory serves me, by wearing lace on her panties. Again, if that little item makes a gal gorgeous, then I'll bet you there are gorgeous girls right in your own block, right in your own house.

If lace on panties is sufficient cause to make a girl gorgeous, the lace counters of the world would do more business than United States Steel. They'd sell millions of yards of the flimsy stuff every day. I might even buy a yard or two myself. I would just as lief be called gorgeous as what I am. It all boils down to this—if we insist on making every young girl who plays tennis and has lace on her panties gorgeous, and her engagement to a quiet, young business man romantic, soon the high-ways and the byways, the streets and the avenues, and everywhere else, will be filled with girls swinging tennis racquets and wearing panties trimmed with lace. And such a situation, while it would be fine for the makers of tennis racquets and panties, would not be good for the nation.

Senators Provide Comedy

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—Although this town may be called a box seat at the Comedy of Human Behavior, the spectator mustn't expect to enjoy continuous belly-laughs—he must be content with subtle chuckles and silent amusement most of the time.

For instance, it would be hard to beat the subtle humor of an impromptu comedy which was staged last week at a hearing of the Senate Committee on Education and Labor. Reading from left to right on the Democratic side of the table, you saw four Administration Senators—Thomas, Murray, Neely and Lehman. As the testimony unfolded, it appeared that thousands of Americans were begging the committee to do something about John L. Lewis and the dwindling coal supply. Telegram after telegram were read into the record, and at least four sets of facts were established:

Four Sets Of Facts

1. Public schools were sending their pupils home for lack of heat in school buildings. But Senator Thomas didn't stir in his chairman's throne. For many years Thomas, sponsor of the administration's duty-to-education bill, has been proclaiming the federal government's duty to provide more and better school rooms. Well, here was a case where school rooms were rendered unfit for human habitation by the whim of a Labor leader. But Thomas had no rebuke.

2. Public hospitals and mental institutions were running out of fuel. But Senator Murray, sponsor of the administration's health insurance bill, didn't bat an eye. For many years Murray has been agitating about the federal government's responsibility for sick people. Well, here was a case where hospital patients were threatened with discomfort and maybe death by the whim of a Labor leader. But Murray had no protest.

3. Churches and parochial institutions were down to their last coal lumps and couldn't be resupplied by their dealers. But Senator Neely merely looked unhappy and tumbled at the knot of his lavish necktie. For many years Neely has been an active churchman and he's one of the most fluent Bible-quoters in Washington. Well, here was a case where the worship of God was being subverted by the whim of a Labor leader. But Neely had no verse from the scriptures to denounce the transgressor.

4. Cities, towns and farm communities were beseeching the federal government for coal to keep their municipal plants, greenhouses and chicken hatcheries in operation. Senator Lehman sat there rubbing his chin. For many years Lehman was governor of New York—the Empire State which is composed of just such a cross-section of localities. Well, here was a case where local governments and local agriculture, the indispensable of American life, were suffering under the whim of a Labor leader. But Lehman kept on rubbing his chin.

Strange Tableau Indeed

This strange tableau, as I suggest, had the makings of subtle, satirical comedy. It displayed the oddity of human behavior the humor of man's inconsistency, the farce of false pretensions. All of these men are professional humanitarians. They were being mocked by the grinning specter which goes by the name of Practical Politics. All of these men are professed liberals. They love Labor, don't they? They're against the Taft-Hartley Act, aren't they? But then, to the defense of the sick, the young, the religious and the public-serving. Yet each of these men had taken an oath to serve—not some special group—but the general citizenry of the United States.

The cream of the jest, I think, comes to the surface in the personality of the Labor leader involved. John L. Lewis is easily the most autocratic man in public life today. He has many times proved himself insensitive to human distress, callous to patriotic war effort, unfriendly to his fellow Labor leaders, rude to the working press and haughty toward the sovereign government.

Above all, from the viewpoint of party-line Democratic Senators, John L. is a Republican. But, as a big figure in the Labor movement, John L. remains a Royal Personage whom commoners such as U. S. Senators dare not molest.

Yet before we drop the curtain on this little drama, there's one more chuckle coming. Those four Senators sat there at the committee table, looking grim and silly. But they also had the decency to look comically shame-faced.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Nothing in the world is quite as inspiring as the enthusiasm, mixed with inexperience, of the very young for whom life still lies ahead as a great adventure and something to be conquered.

We older ones to whom life has become somewhat of a routine are too apt to forget those eager years when we too looked upon each dawn as a new day not just as another twenty-four hours of chores and repetitions, but as a thrilling journey toward our goal of success.

Who is right? The youngster on his fiery steed or the oldster in his mental and spiritual wheelchair?

A sixteen-year-old, by the name of Betty, who lives in Ellsworth, Kansas, furnished the food for this column with a letter in which she announced that she wants to be a great journalist—and she asks me to tell her how to go about it. I can tell her right now that she has the fundamentals of a good newspaper woman. She sent her letter to my home address in Connecticut. How she found it that little town in Kansas—a town that I can't even find listed in any almanac or atlas—is beyond me. But she even got the name of the street on which I live!

This is what Betty writes: "Dashing, exciting, and sometimes very exciting, that is the life of a journalist."

There you are. Youth on his fiery steed!

Journalism nowadays isn't nearly as exciting as Betty imagines. Interesting, yes, because you deal with the lives of human beings—and there is nothing more interesting in the whole wide world than girls and boys and women and men and all the great or foolish things they do.

But "dashing," "exciting"—however, I am not going to disillusion Betty. Let her think it is exciting. After all isn't almost everything exciting when you are sixteen or twenty or even twenty-five? Come to think of it, it WAS exciting. Suicides, murders, divorces, hold-ups, hobnobbing with policemen and firemen. Interviewing burglars, politicians and kings.

A constant mixture of people and events.

Of course, in the days of my youthful reporting, legs counted for more than brains. The reporter had to be agile, quick on his feet, ready to slide down the pole of history just like a fireman when there is a four-alarm fire.

Nowadays things are more mechanical, more organized, more orderly. In my early days the best newspapermen were the kind you see in the movies—rough, tough, rootin', tootin' kind of guys.

Today they are college graduates, thinkers, philosophers—would-be authors and playwrights. But back to Betty.

She wants to know whether she is qualified to be a "journalist." She belongs to three clubs. She attends a lot of conferences and tries to meet as many people as possible. She keeps up a regular correspondence with about forty people and is "interested in everybody as an individual." She has many hobbies, such as stamp collecting, clipping newspaper articles, and "helping the Navajos"—"to mention just a few."

Those are just some of her accomplishments. But they are enough to indicate that she should make a first-class "journalist."

And Heaven help you if she comes to interview you and you won't give her a story! She'll get it anyway.

EDUCATION

As for federal aid for education, it will, if enacted, mean federal control of education. Federal control of education means that a bureaucrat in Washington will tell the teacher what your child must be taught. All teachers will become a part of the political machine which must keep the party in power. Teachers will have to vote right to keep their jobs. This will be true, regardless of which party is in power. Do you want that kind of a school system?

Wherever women gather, whenever the subject of stockings is discussed, you hear all the reasons why Humming Bird Nylons are called for. They're 51 gauge, 15 denier; they're sheer; they're clear; they're flawless fitting; and they're in lovely colors. The good news is that because so many women call for them, and because we sell so many, we can mark them at a low price everyone can afford.

Pennsylvania Chosen For Research Site

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)

Pennsylvania has been chosen for a novel research program to determine the value of new inbred strains of crossbreeding with domestic swine, according to Prof. P. L. Bentley, head of the Livestock department at Pennsylvania State college.

As a result, he says, 29 boars have been distributed to farms over the state.

Field man for the on-the-farm trials is Grant W. Sherritt, a graduate of Iowa State college.

Sherritt said that each of the co-operating breeders has arranged for spring farrowing of his regular purebred swine to compare with the litters of cross breeds, also expected in the spring.

Seven lines of breeding, all of them distributed to participating purebred swine breeders scattered over the state.

Pennsylvania State college officials point out that this is the first such research with swine under practical conditions in Pennsylvania with such a large number of contributors.

Makes Complaint Before City Council

Felix Conti appeared before city council in the municipal building Monday and told council "I believe I should have a little justice."

He alleged he was hired temporarily by former Councilman James Gibson last July in the streets department, worked two months and was laid off.

"Mr. Gibson put a new man on the job," Mr. Conti told council, adding that he felt he should have a little justice.

"Why did you wait until Mr. Gibson is out of office. Why didn't you bring it before council when Mr. Gibson was here, and if it was wrong, council could have rectified it?" asked Councilman Albert A. Hoyland.

Mayor John F. Haven said the fact he was hired temporarily answered the question, after which council proceeded with other business.

Father Fights For Daughters

Asks Custody Of Two Girls In Habeas Corpus

Two attractive little girls were the center of a legal battle in court room number one Monday morning.

In a habeas corpus action, Samuel Rhinehart sought to get custody of his two small daughters, Sandra Irene, 8, and Anna Marlene, 7. They have been in the care of the grandparents, Harry P. Koach and Irene Koach.

The parents of the two little girls are divorced and the father has remarried. The mother lives and works in New York City and the two girls have been living with their grandparents.

At no time was it suggested that the grandparents were not proper persons to rear the little girls, and their appearance bespoke the best of care. The father argued that he wanted his daughters with him.

Judge W. Walter Braham heard the case and at the end of it said, "ordinarily the law would seem clear as to what should be done. In this case, however, there are elements which lend some doubt and I will withhold judgment until some study of the case can be made."

TABLE MANNERS

Question: When demi-tasse is served after dinner, where should the spoons be placed? (2) Should cream be served, too, or only sugar? (3) Should this coffee be served at the table or in the living room and by the maid or hostess?

Answer: The demi-tasse spoon is usually placed on the saucer. (2) Cream should be served for those who desire it. Most people, however, prefer demi-tasse black. (3) After-dinner coffee may be served at the table or in the living room. If there is a servant in attendance, she should carry it into the living room. In either case, the hostess may pour if she prefers or the servant may do so.

Question: When eating vegetables, should one hold the fork prongs up or down?

Answer: The prongs should be held up when eating vegetables and either up or down when eating meat.

Question: Are sandwiches fork or finger foods?

Answer: Dry, thin sandwiches may be picked up in the fingers. Bulky sandwiches, such as club, should be cut with the knife and eaten with the fork.

Question: Is it permissible to eat the lettuce upon which a salad or an appetizer is served?

Answer: You may do as you please. Eat it or leave it, as you choose.

Present your problems to Miss Markel, who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

McCONNELL-YOUNG VOWS SOLEMNIZED

Miss Marjorie Maxine McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McConnell, R.D. 1, Ellwood City, and John E. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cameron, R.D. 9, New Castle, were united in marriage at a picturesque winter wedding on Saturday, January 28, at 7:30 p.m.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized in the Princeton Presbyterian church by Rev. Melville Martin, pastor of the Rose Point Reformed Presbyterian church, officiating. The church altar, decorated with mixed flowers and lighted white candles, formed an attractive setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a smartly styled open blue street length dress with winter white, and black accessories. Her maid of honor, Miss Mary Margaret Myers, wore a navy blue street length dress with winter white, and blue accents. Robert Jones Jr. was best man for the groom, and Everett Taylor, uncle of the groom, and Howard McConnell, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The bride's shoulder corsage was composed of pink and white rosebuds and the maid of honor's flowers was a shoulder corsage of red and white rosebuds and yellow snapdragons.

A short interlude of nuptial music preceded the ceremony with William M. Ewing, presiding at the organ. Kenneth W. McConnell, brother of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mr. Ewing.

An evening reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with 50 guests in attendance. Following a southern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Young will live with the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Taylor, Ellwood City, Route 1. Both young people are Princeton high school graduates with the class of 1947. The groom served in the U. S. Army for 2 years, one and a half years of which were spent in Japan.

The young couple were guests at a rehearsal dinner held for them on the eve of their wedding at the home of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Taylor, given by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cameron.

Minor Action In Council Session

City Councilmen Take Action On Various Matters On Monday

City council met Monday in city hall and there was referred to Streets Director E. Gene Schweinsberg the petition of Phil Winters in which he asked that a distance of 250 feet in Gretchen avenue district, Fifth ward, be opened, or, dained and graded.

Union Township Volunteer Fire department was granted sanction of the city to tap water hydrants at 1018 West Washington street and State and Harbor streets to obtain water for their booster tank, providing they pay the water company for the water.

Miss Edith Cleveland, secretary, Officers and Employees of the City of New Castle Retirement Fund, reported a balance, as of January 2, 1950, of $49,756.96. Council also approved the board's recommendation that when employees are given an examination for disability, the bills be paid for out of the fund.

Council harkened to the recommendation of Solicitor Robert White Monday and as a result all plumbers and utility companies must submit a new bond with corporate surety. The bonds will be good for three years. He said bonds now in force were not actual sureties.

Council on Monday granted permission to property owners on Lorain street between Martin street and the first alley west of Haus avenue to open the street at natural grade in order that they may gain access to their properties. The work will be performed under city supervision.

City of New Castle, not having any need for that portion of a thoroughfare known as Nut street, which is unopened, today instructed the city engineer to destroy all maps of the portion and the land included will be released to abutting property owners.

Any program—oral, written or visual—undertaken in classrooms and aimed at teaching the students Americanism will be eligible for the school system awards, the foundation said.

The school awards will consist of 75 "freedom libraries" of books, films, pamphlets and other documents pertaining to the American way of life.

Groundhog Will Turn Out Thursday, Maybe

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Quarryville's groundhog, infallible weather prophet, will turn out Thursday for his annual chore of scanning the horizon and determining whether spring will be earlier than usual.

If he sees his shadow, according to Pennsylvania Dutch legend, there will be six weeks more of what officially can be called winter. His appearance is scheduled for high noon.

Faithful members of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs, Quarryville Chapter, do not believe the spring-like weather of recent weeks will throw out of balance the sensitive perception which enables the furry little animal to overcome the frailties of man's scientific weather instruments.

Colorfully robed patriarchs of the Quarryville Lodge will trek to Charles Reynolds' Lancaster county farm to observe the annual phenomena.

Secretary and Bondless Treasurer William U. Hensel III has notified members to present themselves at 9 a. m. for assignment to various observation posts. Walky-talky sets will be issued squad leaders.

Area Music Lovers To Hear Symphony

Music lovers not only from New Castle but also the Youngstown, Sharon, Butler and Beaver valley areas, will attend the Wednesday night concert of the New Castle symphony orchestra.

Requests for tickets have already been received from all of these places. Thus the local orchestra, in a little more than a year of operation, has given New Castle a definite lead in this section in the general growth of the symphony movement in this country.

The ticket request is also a complement to the success of the first concert in the current winter series which was very well received. The Wednesday concert will be the second in the 1949-50 season.

Robert H. Kresge, director of public recreation, Butler, has even gone so far as to contact the New Castle Symphony association about using the setup here as a model for a similar organization in Butler.

Tickets will be available at the door the night of the concert.

Local Library Gets Richmond, Va., Book

A local library patron returned a book that was due to the public library.

That act in itself is fine and is nothing to cause a stir. But the hitch is that the book returned to this library is a book belonging to the Richmond, Va., library circulation.

The book, "No Light Came On," is written by Alice Campbell. It's a mystery. The local library would like the mystery solved of who turned the book in at the local library desk.

However, if the patron does not call within a short time, the book will be shipped to Richmond, Va. Miss Alice Sterling, librarian announced.

Today's Fashion Flash

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Fashion-conscious ladies, like gentlemen, prefer "blonde" this season. Designers of clothes and accessories predict that blonde colors will be top style in accessories next spring.

Wheat, natural and gold tones (all of them classed as "blonde" shades) will be whipped up into jewelry, belts, shoes, bags and hosiery to wear with the high color clothes of the season.

Blondes is a natural for fashion accessories, because it tastefully complements every color but white.

Chest Agencies Get Pay Monthly

Agencies of the New Castle Community Chest work on the installment plan—in reverse.

On the first of each month during the present year, each of the local agencies will receive a check from the Chest office, drawn on funds contributed by the citizens of the area. The checks represent one-twelfth of the funds that have been set aside as the quota for the social welfare organization this year.

Many people at campaign time fail to realize that 12 separate agencies are supported by the Chest and that it's a 12-month, 365-day proposition.

Checks will be in the mail Wednesday morning to each of the agencies for the following sums: Boy Scouts, $883.33; Girl Scouts, $583.33; Margaret Henry Home, $1,333.33; Jameson Memorial Hospital, $750; City Rescue Mission, $333.33; Salvation Army, $500; Y. M. C. A., $1,250; Y. W. C. A., $1,000; Shenango Y. W. C. A., $333.33; Catholic Welfare, $300; Elm Street Y. W. C. A., $316.66.

Wheel Out Of Hand; Car Out Of Control

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Leroy D. Raven let a little thing get out of hand for a few seconds and now he wishes he had kept it—specifically the steering wheel of his car—firmly grasped.

He told police that he released the wheel for just a moment, but in that moment his automobile skidded 70 feet and wrapped itself around a high tension power pole. The wires fell and created a hazard to passersby. A part of the pole also fell, on top of another car.

Raven posted $15 collateral on a charge of failing to devote full time and attention to driving.

Safety Stressed At Croton, North Street

Principal Arthur Walker of the Croton and North Street grade schools reports that the boys and girls of the two schools are being made safety conscious these days.

Each month, a different grade is responsible for the safety slogan and the art class of that particular grade makes a poster which depicts the slogan. The contest started with the sixth graders responsible for the slogan and then the fifth graders.

This month, fourth grade pupils have chosen as the motto at Croton school, "Think Before Its Too Late." The art class has constructed a poster fitting in with the saying. North Street's slogan reads, "Be Alert and Don't Get Hurt."

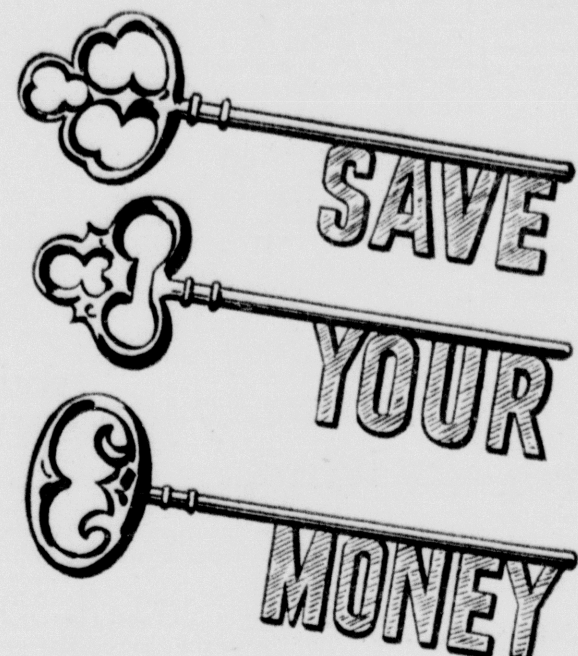

Completion of the steel mesh fence at the Croton school is under way at the present time and soon the entire schoolyard will be enclosed making play on the grounds safe. It is the hope of principal Walker to have supervised play on the school yard after school hours.

Notaries May Not Charge For Bonus Work For Veterans

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Attorney General T. McKee Childsey issued a ruling that notaries public or other officials authorized to administer oaths in Pennsylvania may not charge a fee to notarize application for the state's soldier bonus.

The Justice department handed down the opinion upon the request of State Adj. Gen. Frank A. Weber. Previously some notaries public said they would charge for signing and stamping the papers.

The department based its ruling on an act of 1933, amended in 1935, which stated:

"It shall be the duty of any magistrate, alderman, justice of the peace, or any other person authorized to take acknowledgments and administer oaths to perform such service for the purpose of obtaining pensions and all other papers connected with and referring to the military service of any service person free of charge."

The veterans bonus can be construed as a pension under terms of the act, the Justice department said.

Winter Grain Stands In Good Condition

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Strands of winter grains on Pennsylvania farms generally are in satisfactory condition, despite a lack of snow cover, according to the State Department of Agriculture.

However, alternate freezing and thawing has caused damage to some stands.

Federal-state surveys show that temperatures and precipitation during December favored winter grains and grasses.

Farmers in most areas agree that soil moisture reserves are now generally near normal, the department said. A deficiency of several inches for the year was reported in December, but that month's precipitation slightly exceeded the 62-year average of 6.07 inches.

Because most rain fell on thawed-out soils, the run-off was light, and in early December many farmers were hauling water for livestock.

BOY IS DROWNED

LANGHORNE, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Wilbur Harding, 15, of Oakford, Bucks County, drowned Monday when a small boat upset in the Nashaminy creek near Langhorne.

The boy clung to the overturned boat for a short time, witnesses said, but then lost his grip and sank in the 12-foot stream.

The boy was a pupil at Siles school in lower Southampton Twp.

The body was recovered by units of the Lower Bucks County Marine Association. The boat belonged to a Philadelphia Boy Scout troop which has a camp nearby.

Health Talks

MRS. ROBIN
Mrs. Robin has been pretty busy all summer. First she had to consider the housing situation. When she arrived here she did not find anything suitable, so she built a nest of her own.

She likes a little privacy too. She and her hubby have their own ideas about bringing up a family. They are not much in favor of the apartment idea.

It would be fine if Mom could run things like Mrs. Robin does. She wouldn't have to share the bath or the laundry with another family. She would try to keep her little nest as clean and tidy as Mrs. Robin too.

Perhaps we will learn after a while how to take care of ourselves as well as Mr. and Mrs. Red Breast do. They seem to keep pretty busy but maybe that isn't a bad idea either.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Now wouldn't you just know that it was a private in Camp Lee who invented the story of three military fellows approaching the Peary Gates in single file? The first in line, of course, was a grumpy five-star general, who was obviously incredulous when St. Peter thumbed him over to the elevator that descended to Hell. The second in line was a colonel who was promptly sent hustling after the disconsolate general.

But when St. Peter saw that the third man in line was a simple, unadorned rear-rank private, his face broke out into a happy grin. "Come right in," he beamed. "I can't tell you how badly we need K. P.'s in here."

One of Cornelia Otis Skinner's most painful memories is the occasion when her father caught her knitting because her boy friend in New Haven told her he needed a new muffler for his Stutz "Bearcat" runabout.

Historic Surrender Described In Letter

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Several missing details in American history were filled in recently when a letter written by Civil War General Ulysses S. Grant was discovered among thousands of uncatalogued letters.

The letter which turned up in the Pennsylvania Historical society describes the surrender details of the south's losing hero, General Robert E. Lee.

In the letter, dated 1884, Grant describes the scene apparently related to him by his aide, General O. E. Babcock.

Grant wrote that Lee was seated against an apple tree at Appomattox "where the officer (General Babcock) who bore my reply to Lee reached him."

"He was then invited to pass through our lines, to a house to await my arrival," Grant says in the letter.

NEED DRAFT EXTENSION

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—National Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey today said the state of world affairs indicated a need for extension of the wartime draft.

The position taken by the United States in world affairs points to a need for keeping the machinery ready for emergencies, he told the Harrisburg Rotary Club.

"We cannot withdraw from our position without a reason," Hershey asserted. "Certainly the world is not quieter now than it was two years ago when selective service was extended."

PSYCHIATRIST TO EXAMINE YOUTH IN GIRL SLAYING
LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—A top-flight Philadelphia psychiatrist is scheduled to examine within two weeks the slayer of 21-year-old Marian Louise Baker, pretty Franklin & Marshall college clerk.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker, prominent in eastern psychiatric circles, has been engaged by Defense Counsel W. Hensel Brown to examine Edward L. Gibbs, 25, of Pitman, N. J., self-admitted "impulse" slayer of the girl.

Gibbs, a senior business administration student at F & M when the slaying occurred January 10, has been a model prisoner in the Lancaster county prison where he is being held without bail pending an appearance before the March term of court.

The girl's choked and beaten body was found four days after the slaying beneath a cottage three miles south of Lancaster. In a statement to state police, Gibbs said he used a tire lug wrench to bludgeon her.

Brown said he has been collecting what he called "background material" to be turned over to Strecker when he visits Gibbs in prison.

Judge Joseph B. Wissler authorized the defense to have Gibbs examined by a psychiatrist.

The discovery in Tennessee in the 19th century of numerous small stone coffins containing skeletons, the largest of which measured 24 inches in length and nine inches in depth, led to rumors that a pygmy race had existed there. The skeletons later were discovered to be those of children.

PSYCHIATRIST TO EXAMINE YOUTH IN GIRL SLAYING
LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—A top-flight Philadelphia psychiatrist is scheduled to examine within two weeks the slayer of 21-year-old Marian Louise Baker, pretty Franklin & Marshall college clerk.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker, prominent in eastern psychiatric circles, has been engaged by Defense Counsel W. Hensel Brown to examine Edward L. Gibbs, 25, of Pitman, N. J., self-admitted "impulse" slayer of the girl.

Gibbs, a senior business administration student at F & M when the slaying occurred January 10, has been a model prisoner in the Lancaster county prison where he is being held without bail pending an appearance before the March term of court.

The girl's choked and beaten body was found four days after the slaying beneath a cottage three miles south of Lancaster. In a statement to state police, Gibbs said he used a tire lug wrench to bludgeon her.

Brown said he has been collecting what he called "background material" to be turned over to Strecker when he visits Gibbs in prison.

Lefty Minner Talks To New Wilmington Kiwanians Monday

Paul "Lefty" Minner was main speaker at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the New Wilmington Kiwanis club Monday evening.

Lefty spoke on the "Life of a Baseball Player," dealing mainly with life in the major leagues. After the talk there was a question and answer period on baseball.

L. C. Mantz, lieutenant governor of Division Two, made his official visit to the club at the meeting and gave a short talk.

George Kerr, Bruce Black, Leslie Adams, William Kaufman and H. D. Cody were guests at the meeting.

George McCurdy, chairman of the March of Dimes program, gave a short report on the progress of the campaign. George McCurdy and Griff Williams were appointed to the governing board of the New Wilmington Girl Scouts.

Howard Rodgers, president, was in charge of the meeting, and Griff Williams was in charge of the evening's program.

Harry Klumph, of the New Wilmington Isals cheese plant, will be speaker at next week's meeting and will lead the members on a tour of the plant.

New York Stocks

Stock Prices Move Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Stock prices continued higher in forenoon trading today. Television shares held the spotlight for the third session in a row. Other market groups had a firm tone but appeared to encounter selling as they moved higher.

First hour turnover totaled 370,000 shares.

Magnavox ran away with price honors, rising 7-8 to 16 1-8. AVCO, Radio Corp. and Emerson Radio opened 1-8 to 1-4 better and held.

The strike threat shaved half point off American Telephone. General Motors and Chrysler entered the second hour with minor losses.

Independent strength in Jones & Laughlin bolstered the steel group. Ralls advanced fractionally before tapering. Oils probed higher levels with Jersey Standard Oil up 1-2.

Railroad bonds opened unchanged to small fractions better. Curb shares were firm. Chicago wheat was fractionally easier. N. Y. cotton advanced 5 to 25 cents a bale.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—If you want to be two seasons ahead of the current fashion, just marry a designer.

So says Gene Tierney, star of 20th Century-Fox's "Where the Sidewalk Ends".

Gene ought to know. She's married to noted stylist Oleg Cassini, who designs her on-and-off screen clothes, and appears before the cameras for the first time in his life, portraying himself—as Miss Tierney's designer, not as her husband, in the film.

No Clothes Problem
To prove it pays to marry a couturier, Gene points out how her clothes shopping problems are solved as the wife of Cassini. She said:

"While other women are wondering and worrying or shopping or planning to shop for their spring wardrobe, I had my 1950-51 fall and winter wardrobe all ready for me even before Oleg's spring collection had a formal showing."

Best Dressed
Gene, who has been named on a half dozen "best dressed" lists, admits she has to thank her husband for that distinction. She frankly says:

"I was never on one until I married Oleg. He taught me that discretion was the better part of fashion valor when he once told me that 'A perfectly dressed woman is one who looks beautiful even though you can't quite remember what she wore.'"

"In other words, he believes fashion must frame and accentuate the best points of a face and figure, not obliterate them by conspicuous line or color or frou-frou over-decoration."

Pleasant Job
Being married to a designer is not only profitable but pleasant, says Gene, who, like all women, likes her husband to be observing. "Most men are bored with women's talk of clothes—Oleg, on the contrary, being creatively interested in them, has many other artistic interests which not only make mutual conversational topics for us but frequently inspire his costume creations."

MORGAN THE HUNTER

The best part of an elk is the haunch, according to Dennis Morgan, who, next to making love to Ginger Rogers, would rather go elk hunting, and then make a dinner of it afterwards.

Morgan's gourmet talk was prompted by a cafeteria scene in "Perfect Strangers," the saga in which he makes love to Ginger Rogers, but doesn't eat an elk haunch.

Morgan is one of a small group of actors who put on their boots and blazers, grab their rifles, and head for the woods at least once a year. The group includes Clark Gable and Gary Cooper.

"Actually," Morgan said, "there are a lot of things I would rather eat than elk meat—even haunches. But after a man has slogged through the cold woods for several days and camped out for several cold nights, then finally bagged his game, there's a lot of satisfaction in sitting down to eat it. Must be something primitive."

Methodists To See 'Dust Or Destiny'

New Castle residents will have opportunity to witness the latest Moody Bible Institute film, "Dust Or Destiny," which will be shown in the First Methodist church, North at Jefferson street, Tuesday, February 7.

The film drew a large crowd on its recent showing at the Cathedral auditorium and will be witnessed by an equally large group at this showing. Radar of the birds is shown in the interesting film, which is religious in nature. The showing of the picture is scheduled for 8 p. m.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

(Distributed By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—"Your money or your life" has always been the classic demand of the armed bandit of song and story.

This is the harsh reality to which the American people must soon face up in regard to the hydrogen bomb. For it is the opinion of more than one person in official life in Washington that we Americans can not have both a hydrogen bomb and the high standard of living that now obtains throughout the nation.

We cannot have our money and the present standard of comfort it purchases and our lives, say these realists. It will cost a great deal of money, they continue, to construct the bomb and at the same time build for this nation an adequate system of defense against atom and hydrogen attack.

Choice Confronts Us
This choice which the nation must make between its money, i. e., its easy way of life, and its continued existence is believed to be one of the factors holding up the decision to begin the hydrogen project.

But it is a foregone conclusion here that President Truman will give the green light in the near future for the manufacture of a hydrogen bomb, which may yet succeed in blowing the world to Guinea in one easy try.

Regardless of its cost in money and the levy it may make on every citizen, the hydrogen bomb is a grim subject and a grim decision. It is one of the most fateful and terrible problems ever faced by a chief of state. But at least Mr. Truman does not face the dilemma of President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he authorized the Manhattan project. When President Roosevelt gave the go-ahead signal for the manufacture of the atom bomb in the early days of World War II, he did so with the feeling that his decision might ultimately lead to his impeachment.

At that time there was no certainty that man would ever be able to split the atom. To the general public, nuclear fission was bracketed with rocket trips to the moon and similar moonshine occasionally discussed in the Sunday supplements.

Authorized Bomb
Mr. Roosevelt authorized the atomic bomb with the knowledge that impeachment might be his reward for ordering the expenditure of fruitless billions if no bomb resulted.

His successor faces no such dilemma. Indeed, it is the opposite. If the Russians should suddenly come up with a hydrogen bomb before the U. S. A., Mr. Truman might face impeachment for his delay—providing, of course, either he or a quorum of U. S. citizens survived for impeachment purposes.

Allegheny Emergency Service Suffering All Kinds Of Pains

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Doctors are getting impatient and tired and the Allegheny County Medical society hopes to do something about it.

The society's "emergency medical service" seems to be suffering from all kinds of pains.

Midnight "emergency" calls long have irked doctors who point out they need sleep at night.

Since the society announced its around-the-clock emergency telephone service last August more than 300 calls have been received each month.

Calls by Drunks
Doc doesn't mind that so much, but his complaint is that about two out of every five "emergency" calls turn out to be minor or the result of one-too-many. Physicians stress that there are many legitimate calls for aid.

Drunks seem to place most of the unnecessary calls. One inebriate-called a doctor about 5 a. m. that he had been drinking heavily and couldn't get to sleep. He wanted a shot. The doc told him to get a shot when the bars opened a couple hours later.

The society said it is surprised at the number of people that haven't got a family doctor. They suggested every family get to know a doctor in the neighborhood whom they can call in case of a real emergency.

GAS FLAME

Never let the flame of your gas stove flare up around the sides of a cooking utensil. This practice wastes heat and discolors the pots and pans. Turn the gas flame down when boiling begins.

Steelworkers Urged To Aid Civil Rights

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Representatives from 450 United Steel Workers locals in 12 districts had orders Monday to enlist support in "every way possible" for President Truman's Civil Rights program.

CIO and USW President Philip Murray told delegates to the USW-CIO conference in Pittsburgh yesterday the campaign is virtually as important to the USW as their recent successful drive for pensions. Similar conferences are scheduled in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Birmingham. Murray will broadcast on a nation-wide hook-up February 12 in support of the proposed Civil Rights legislation.

Williams Reported Ready To Sign For Over $100,000

Will Make Ted Highest Paid

Red Sox To Give Slugging Outfielder More Dough

By LAWTON CARVER (International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Ted Williams, the sun-tanned spindleshanked young giant who hits home runs for the Boston Red Sox, bounced into New York and right out again en route to signing a contract which will make him the highest-salaried player in history.

He will arrive in Boston late today and some time before the week is out will agree to terms calling for more than $100,000 for the 1950 season.

In Fine Shape

Upon alighting from a plane which brought him east from Florida Williams said: "I feel great and the fishing has been good all winter. I think now as I have thought during the last two seasons that the Red Sox will win the pennant. My contract? I haven't signed one yet and I have no comment to make on it."

Williams may not have any comment to make now, but the word is out that he will be the highest paid player in the history of baseball for the coming season.

Worth Every Cent

Several factors enter into this. One of them is that he is worth all he can get as a gate attraction. Another is that last season he won the American League most valuable player award and will receive the trophy Thursday night at a banquet of the Boston Baseball Writers.

Beyond that, his owner and keeper, Tom Yawkey, is not only a hard-headed businessman who sees the value of paying what a player wants. He also can be magnanimous.

Last season Williams led or tied in almost every important department of hitting. He led his league in home runs with 43, won the slugging title for the fifth time, tied his teammate Vern Stephens for runs batted in with 159, led in runs and justifiably became the league's most valuable player.

Got $90,000 In 1949

He received a reported $90,000 for 1949, and an increase which seems to be the cards will put him over $100,000.

The fact that Joe DiMaggio just last week signed a contract said to call for $100,000 for the second year in a row has to do with Yawkey's determination to make Williams an even higher-salaried performer.

The 31-year-old slugger has spent the winter, as usual, hunting and fishing. He hunted and fished for a time around his Princeton, Minn., home, then went to Stuttgart, Ark., for some duck-calling and moved on inevitably to the Florida Everglades.

Likes Out-Door Life

Down there he ties his own fishing flies, cuts his own bait and gives the furred and finny flock a million headaches.

He also keeps himself in top shape and said before taking off for Boston today: "I feel great—like I always do even after the baseball season has been over for a couple of months. I could start playing tomorrow. Fishing and hunting, that outdoor life, is what does it."

Mikan Leads NBA Scorers

Leads In Six Out Of Eight Departments

(By International News Service)

George Mikan, who will in future years be referred to as the man who made Minneapolis famous, is still the top man in the National Basketball Association.

Mikan, the six foot, ten inch center of the Minneapolis Lakers, leads the NBA in six of eight individual departments. His 1307 points in 46 games, per game average of 28.4, total field goals, 452, foul shots made, 403, and 51 points in one game are still tops.

Dick McGuire of New York captured the lead in assists and Alex Groza of Indianapolis continues as the top man in field goal percentage with 482. Mikan also leads the league in committing personal fouls with 217 infractions called against him.

Olympians lose

In the only games played last night, Anderson climbed to within 2½ games of Indianapolis in the western division by whipping Sheboygan, 91-74, while the Olympians were taking a 91-75 spanking at the hands of Syracuse.

The New York Knickerbockers, who played five games in six days last week, begin the same tortuous grind tonight when they engage Tri-Cities in Chicago in a doubleheader which pits Fort Wayne against Chicago in the other game.

Other action tonight finds Rochester at Boston and Washington at Denver.

Protested Games In Section 24 To Stand As Played

WPIAL Decisions Committee Rules Officials In Charge

Decisions were handed down on two protested Section 24 basketball games at a meeting of the WPIAL decisions committee in the Roosevelt hotel in Pittsburgh Monday night.

In both cases the games shall stand as played, it was ruled by the committee.

The first protest was that of East Brook against Wampum concerning flood conditions at Wampum. According to reports one corner of the Wampum floor became wet and slippery due to certain atmospheric conditions.

The officials did not stop the game, however, and it was completed, Wampum winning 45-36. The question presented by East Brook was whether the game was fair under the conditions.

The decision of the committee was:

"The game between East Brook and Wampum questioned on account of wet floor shall stand as played. The league recognizes that officials have full charge of games."

Six Time Outs

The second protest was filed by New Wilmington concerning its game at Mt. Jackson on January 10. According to reports presented at the meeting Mt. Jackson had six times out without penalty, before the sixth coming 10 seconds before the end of the game.

New Wilmington claimed that the sixth time out should have resulted in a technical foul against Mt. Jackson with New Wilmington getting the ball out of bounds after the free throw. No technical foul was called. Mt. Jackson kept possession of the ball and went on to win 39-38.

The fact that Mt. Jackson had six times out was not questioned—both scorers verified the fact. The differences came between the scorers and the officials. The officials claim that they were not notified of the sixth time out until the end of the game, when it was too late to act on it.

The scorers, according to Coach Bob Eagleson of New Wilmington both claimed that they had notified official Ray Kelly.

The committee upheld the officials in the following decision: "Mt. Jackson took six times out without penalty. Officials claim they were not informed. The decision of the officials is sustained. The league has no recourse except to continue to recognize that officials in charge of a game have complete charge."

Hanks Play Three Games This Week

Hank A. C. basketball team will lay its 15 and 1 record on the line three times this week as it embarks on one of the roughest weeks of its schedule.

Starting tonight, the Hanks travel to Darlington to meet the Darlington Raiders at the Darlington high floor beginning at 8:30. Thursday the Hawks will face the strong Metz Service team of Ellwood at the Shelby floor in a district league game.

The Hanks, with a record of eight wins and no losses in league play, have clinched a tie for the first half and need only one more win to cop it. Metz Service is currently in second place with a 6-and-2 record and need a win over the Hanks to keep in the running. This game will start at eight.

After this tussle the Hawks will journey to Grove City Friday to take on the BoBo Eagles. The Eagles also have a strong quintet, having proved tough in the recent tournament at the "Y."

New Castle's football team was the first high school eleven in the district to discard khaki colored pants for the bright satin ones.

'Luke' Easter Packs Mighty Sock With Bat, Indians Are Very Happy

By BILL CORUM (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—To the hills, Page and Porterfield, and drag the valleys in after you. Baseball's H-bomb is ready for delivery in Cleveland and it's going to be a case of every pitcher for "hissed" this summer, if we are to believe the dire prophecies of the customarily conservative Hank Greenberg.

When Greenberg speaks of "Lethal Luke" Easter, new Negro Indian outfielder, he does so in whispers, after first making sure that there are no pitchers and small children within range of his voice.

Mighty Hefty

According to Hank, Luke the liquidator is the first fellow he's seen knock a baseball lopsided since the days when he used to play with quarter rockets in the Bronx.

Easter's hands are so large, his fingers so long, that the handles of his bats must be extra thick and the war clubs must be carefully chosen lest Easter make toothpicks of them at the expense of the Cleveland club.

There was another fellow riding the big sports wheel until recently whose fingers were so long that he had to use special equipment. He also could hit. A fellow named Joe Louis.

In Right Field

The present plan in Cleveland is to play Easter in right field, where his powerful throwing arm, reportedly second only to his bat in atom-fused energy, will stand him and Lou Boudreau's again hopeful tribe in good stead.

Every so often a new sensational star comes along in every sport. Whether this Easter actually will prove to be one provides one of those situations where your guess, or mine, probably is as good as the next fellow's.

Analyzing Water Of Hetttenbaugh Run

Fish Protector Clinton B. White today reported a state department of health chemist is analyzing Hetttenbaugh Run water for the purpose of ascertaining if mine water has polluted the stream.

The Hetttenbaugh is not stocked with trout. However, it runs into the Big Neshannock which is a stocked stream.

There is a mining operation off Route 1, north of Harlansburg and another, near East Brook, according to White.

"You cannot tell whether or not water is polluted by looking at it," White stated.

Graham Wins Over Docusen

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The stock of Philadelphia's Otis Graham rose considerably today following his upset welterweight victory over class Bernard Docusen of New Orleans in a ten-round clash at the Arena last night before 4000 fans.

Graham, a pronounced underdog, gained a split decision over the favored opponent, who appeared to be rusty in spots and off in his timing. The loss shattered the "Duke's" string of 11 victories.

Uniontown Quits Middle-Atlantic

President Pete Yezbak Notifies Daily Of Withdrawal

Uniontown has "tossed in the towel" and have notified President Elmer Daily of their intention to quit the Middle-Atlantic baseball league.

President Pete Yezbak, says "the situation is hopeless and we are forced to withdraw." Uniontown has had a franchise in the popular Class C loop for the past three years. The Coal Barons have been a Pirate farm system club.

Just what town will pick up the franchise is not known, but Niagara Falls, Weirton, West Va., and Charleroi have all signified intentions of seeking a franchise.

Yezbak and his followers were seeking a sum of $25,000 to continue operations, but failed to raise the money.

Seek Eighth Team

Daily will no doubt announce in a few days just what club will make up the eighth Mid-Atlantic spot.

Indications point to the 1950 schedule session of the league being held here in New Castle the early part of February.

New Castle is in the throes of re-organizing following the purchase by a group of well known business men of the Nats. An important announcement will be made Wednesday or Thursday concerning the New Castle club.

New Castle seems definitely assured of participation in the league this year with a whole new setup of owners and a new manager.

Meeting Wednesday

There will be a meeting at the Hotel New Penn at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening of the men interested in buying the New Castle club, it was announced by Al Scarazzo today. President Daily of the Mid-Atlantic league will attend the New Castle meeting.

Mike Cannavino will not be interested in the team this year other than getting it under way then he will retire, it was announced.

New York Yankees Sign Johnny Mize

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The veteran Johnny Mize stands out today as a good example of the generosity of the New York Yankees.

The big 37-year-old first baseman, who participated in only 13 games for the world champions last year, signed a 1950 contract that reportedly calls for a sum near $30,000.

That's a lot of money for a player that's definitely past his peak. But the Bombers figure big Jawn still has a few lusty wallops left in his booming bat.

PHILADELPHIA—The Philadelphia Sports Writers banquet last night honored Art Houtteman (left) as the "most courageous athlete" of 1949. While Bob Hope received the Sportsman award.

Art Houtteman Selected 'Most Courageous Athlete'

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Art Houtteman, Detroit Tiger pitching ace, who overcame near fatal injuries in an auto crash last year to star on the mound, was officially recognized today as the "most courageous athlete" of 1949.

Fitting tribute was paid to the 22-year-old hurler last night by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association which presented him with its highest award at its annual banquet before 1200 guests from throughout the world of sport.

The citation went to Houtteman for having a fighting heart and spirit which is the mark of great athletes and the goal of sports.

Seriously Injured

Houtteman suffered a fractured skull and a broken cervical vertebra last March 10 when his auto was struck by a truck at Lakeland, Fla. But after days of hovering at the brink of death, he rallied, and was back in uniform two months later.

He went through the season to chalk up a record of 15-10, his best.

Steve Van Buren, the Philadelphia Eagles top ground grinder, was cited as the year's outstanding athlete for breaking no less than four records last season in professional football.

Notre Dame's All American end Leon Hart also was honored by the association as the outstanding lineman of the year.

Franklin Sturgeon was New Castle High's first official paid football coach, 1910.

Wilt-Gehrmann Rematch Sought

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A rematch between Don Gehrmann and Fred Wilt, who finished neck-and-neck in a scorching mile run at the Millrose games, was on the fire today in Cleveland.

Ed McHugh, director of the annual Knights of Columbus track meet at the Arena, will travel to the Michigan relays Saturday in an effort to induce Gehrmann to appear on the Cleveland show March 17.

Wilt, the hungry-looking FBI man, has participated in past K. of C. shows in Cleveland and is expected to be on the scene again this year.

Wilt and Gehrmann finished almost simultaneously in the New York miles in a scorching time of 4:09.3.

Evashevski Takes Washington State Grid Coach Post

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Forrest Evashevski, backfield mentor at Michigan State, will be the new head football coach at Washington State college, succeeding Phil Sarboe, who resigned.

The former University of Michigan blocking back and teammate of Tommy Harmon is scheduled to arrive on the Cougar campus in mid-February with his wife and three children.

Evashevski will sign a five-year contract at a salary reported to be in excess of $10,000 a year.

Sarboe quit last season after his most disastrous season in his five years at the helm.

The 1949 Lehigh University football squad compiled the best record since 1923 by winning six and losing three games. It was the highest scoring eleven here since the 1917 season.

Marshall Coach

FORMER high school coach in Cleveland and later coach at Mount Union college, Willard (Pete) Pederson has been appointed head football mentor at Marshall college, Huntington, W. Va. He succeeds the veteran, Cam Henderson. (International)

Says Nation Is Facing Crisis

Dr. John Coleman
Of Geneva College
Talks On Economics

Addressing the New Castle Rotary club at its weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon, Dr. John Coleman, professor of political science at Geneva college, told his audience that this nation as well as the world is facing a definite economic crisis.

He stated that of 31 civilizations which the world has known, 26 have perished, and that civilization is now at a critical point. If we meet the issues we can go on to finer things, he asserted, but if we fail, our civilization will collapse just as these others have done. The entire world is facing this great economic crisis, he said.

The economic structure, he stated, is built on a pyramid, with the lower class forming the foundation; the middle class, the second tier; and the upper of capitalist class, the top.

Communism fails. The lower, or what might be termed the common people, has found out the strength of its numbers. In Russia, it brought about the revolution. The top and most of the middle class was killed off, or forced to flee the country, the method adopted being what was termed Communism. However, they supplanted what they had with something worse. The common people of Russia, today, he asserted, is worse off than under the Grand Duke. The Politburo is at the top and is enjoying the advantages, while the common people are in a worse state of slavery than they ever were.

The Politburo has not even carried out its own program. With its secret police and iron curtain, the common people cannot find out what is going on in the rest of the world, nor can the rest of the world find out what is going on in Russia. They have come to a crisis in their own country, he stated, and if we can stave off conflict with the Russians for a few more years, another revolution will occur there, which will avert a war.

Britain turned to Socialism, which was grasped by the lower and middle classes. In New Zealand and Australia, Socialism prevailed, but they have recently reversed their stand. However, the conservatives, who have just come into power, have decided to retain what they already have and to go no further.

Labor Not Producing. Here in the United States, we are drifting in the same direction, but by a different method. The unions boast they have enrolled two-thirds of the manual laborers and three-fourths in other fields. They have organized the unskilled laborer, who wants more of the good things of life than he can produce.

There have been three rounds of wage increases, with a fourth one coming up. The lower class of people wants the economic status of the middle class. This fourth round of wage increases will not be the last, it will continue to grow. There cannot be an increase in good living, however, without an increase in production. You cannot distribute living unless you produce the goods, he stated.

One thing that most everyone seems to have overlooked, is that you cannot get something for nothing. You have to pay for what you get, he stated. He took exception to the statement of Pennsylvania governmental leaders that Pennsylvania has no deficit spending.

The recent soldiers bonus and the creation of the state authority are both deficit spending, he said.

Our problem is to work and pay and not to get something for nothing. Labor wants to reduce its work week to 30 hours, but is unwilling to give 30 hours of labor in return. There is a general trend toward a slowdown in all industry, which is going to carry the country to ruination if it continues to grow.

Education, as well as practical application of Christianity, is needed if we are to meet the crisis which faces us, and to conquer it, he stated in conclusion.

Local Officers At Conference

Service Star Legion Inc. members who attended the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense in Washington, D. C., at Hotel Statler have returned home. They are: Mrs. Ida M. Suber of Bell avenue, First National vice-president of S. S. Legion, who served on the Credential committee; Mrs. Helen Ray, State hospital chairman, who served on Rule committee; and Mrs. Minnie Nicholson, Relief chairman, who was the National color bearer and page at the Conference.

President Speaks. A banquet was held in the Presidential ballroom, Thursday evening with 2,500 persons attending. Thirty-eight patriotic organizations were represented including senators, statesmen and congressmen.

Mrs. Norman L. Sheehy, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary was the presiding chairman. The invocation was Rev. Fr. Edward J. Carney, National Chaplain of the American Legion. The group heard an interesting talk by the President of the United States, Harry S. Truman; and also Secretary of Defense, Louis A. Johnson, who spoke on National Defense.

Many distinguished guests attended the opening of the Conference on Friday morning. A mass meeting was held Friday evening. Thirty-six resolutions were adopted at the Conference Saturday afternoon, which will help to insure the future peace of our Nation.

To Seek Bids On Bonus Bond Issue

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Budget Secretary Edward B. Logan announced that the commonwealth will advertise today for bids on a $375,000,000 bond issue to pay the World War II bonus.

Logan said that each bid on the 15-year serial bonds must be accompanied by a certified check for $7,500,000 and must reach the office of Gov. James H. Duff by February 16.

Officials doubt if there will be one or more bids because of the size of the issue.

The actual transfer of cash from the successful bidder to the state treasury has been set for March 16.

Bonus payments are expected to begin shortly after that date.

The bonds of $1,000 each already have been printed by the Security Bank Note Co. of Philadelphia.

Gets Hit On Head, Also Gets Arrested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Elihu J. Howder, 44, caught a sugar bowl on his noggin, but that wasn't all—he also caught a concealed weapons charge and the prospect of a stay in the pokey.

An unidentified patron of a Washington restaurant broke the sugar bowl on Howder's head in full view of the law—Police Private Charles A. Scott. The policeman seized the assailant, but let go in a hurry and grabbed Howder when informed the latter was armed. He was, with a fully loaded .45 caliber pistol.

At the station, where he was charged, Howder told police he had served nine years in Alcatraz for a series of robberies.

Far-Reaching Ruling Is Asked In Radio

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A ruling with possible far-reaching importance to radio stations broadcasting political speeches was requested of the U. S. district court Monday by Station WCAU.

The radio station asked a "summary judgment" exempting it from liability in money damages by persons "slandered, libelled or defamed" in broadcasts by accredited representatives of political parties.

Counsel for WCAU contended in their petition that federal communications regulations "expressly prohibit" radio stations from censoring political speeches.

The WCAU request was by way of defense in a $50,000 damage suit filed by the Americans for Democratic action because the station transcribed speeches by William F. Meade, Republican city chairman.

Three other Philadelphia radio stations also have been sued for $50,000 each, based on Meade's alleged defamatory statements against Attorney David H. H. Felix and other ADA members.

Group Pays Tribute To Late Teacher

Tribute was paid to the late Miss Josephine L. Snyder of 2301 Auburn avenue, Mt. Auburn, by a group of Cincinnati women, members of the Anthroposophical society at a recent meeting. Miss Snyder died in the Jameson Memorial hospital here on January 6 following an illness.

Before going to Cincinnati, Miss Snyder graduated from Slippery Rock state teachers college and taught at the New Castle high school and in Youngstown. She was known for her many charities.

Panther Reported In W. Virginia District

SUGAR GROVE, W. Va., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Residents of Smith's Creek in the Sugar Grove section of Pendleton county have reported seeing and hearing a "panther" in the area.

West Virginia Conservation Officer William E. Hottinger said one man described the animal as "about three feet high and six feet long."

Hottinger said the panther probably was a large wildcat.
